You Can't Start A Fire Without A Spark

Each September, yearbook staffs struggle and fight in search of a theme, to tie the yearbook together, that has some significance for each individual and each group.

This year, the idea to use a lifeline as our theme came easily. Brookfield High has proven its spirit and enthusiasm throughout the years, and has been even more outstanding this year.

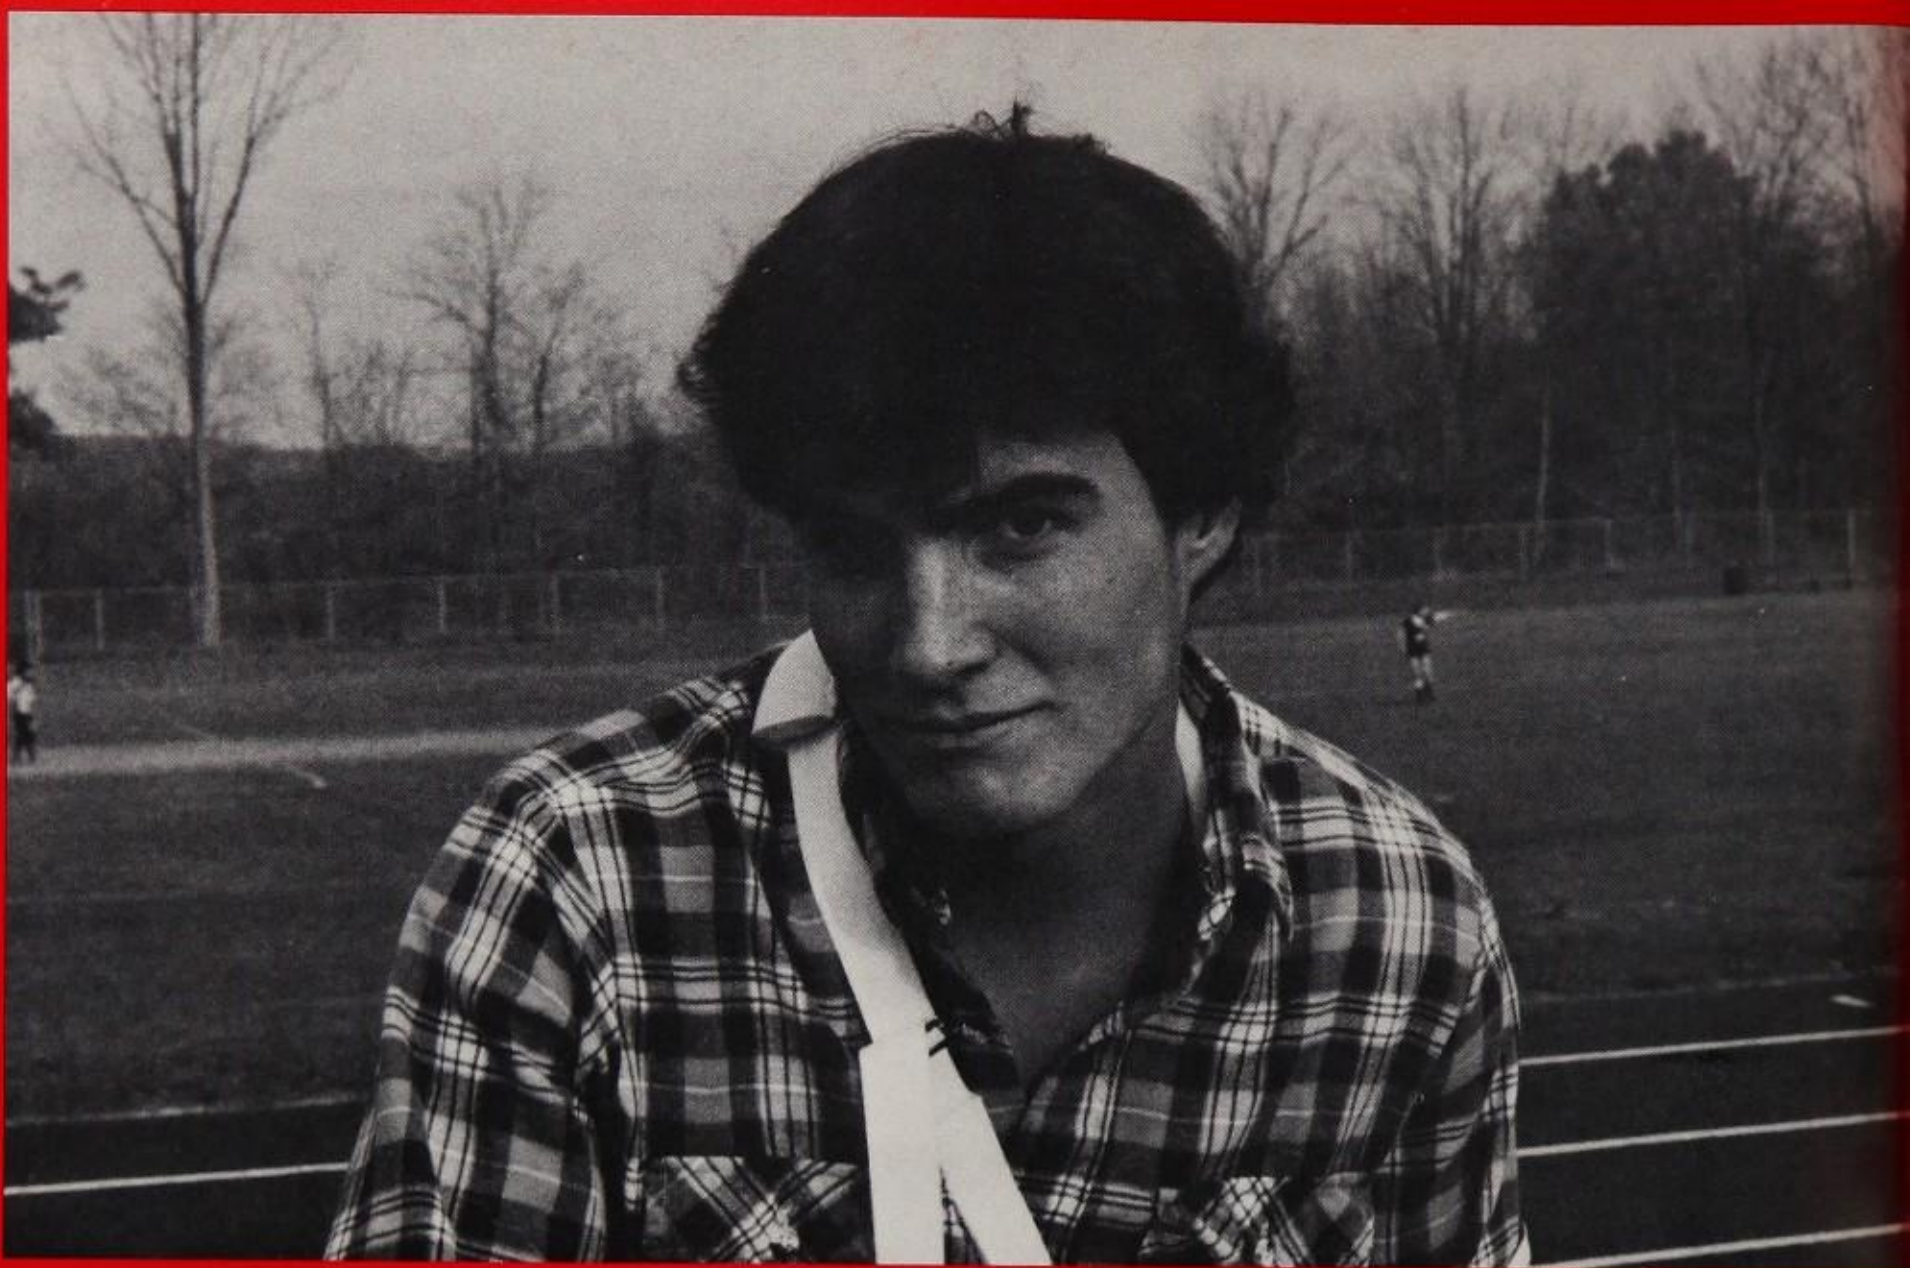

The fashions, personalities and the spirit of the students at BHS has been bright; each individual representing a spark on our lifeline.

Without even realizing it, we discovered the meaning behind the word SCINTILLA: the bright spark of light in which Brookfield High School has been considered throughout its yearbook history.

We are proud to present to you a yearbook with a theme to represent each one of us. We hope that each time you look through this book, you will remember the year 1985 the same way we do: hotter than Texas chili!!!

Midweek Crisis

I am a 45 record being played on 33.
Buzz, I hear the clock calling me.
Thump, it falls heavily onto the floor, silent now.

Things begin to quicken but I am not quite functioning within the right speed.

My eyes refuse to look at the day
And my feet dangle as I sit on the bed.
Slowly, my big toe cries, then the other four, then the rest.

The cold floor is too much for them.

The speed in my feet is increased, but the speed of the rest of me is still being played slowly.

I have now become a warped record.

And then it hits me . . . it's Wednesday and I'm half-way there!

24-4-36 . . . I think. Oh no! Does anyone have extra gym clothes? Why can't I remember that I have gym on Tuesdays and Thurs . . . or is it Fridays? I haven't shaved my legs, these shorts are too tight, it's freezing. Are we going outside today?

Ah yes!! Nothing is more exhilarating than gym. It breaks up the monotony of the academic schedule and gives us a chance to release our unused energy.

Administration

Dear Students,

One of the things that I have been pretty impressed with over the last couple of years has been the responsible attitude that the young men and women who go to this school show towards adults and each other. I sincerely believe that this good attitude has been enhanced by the many things I have seen this year's Seniors do to encourage cooperation among the student body and their acceptance of responsibility. It has been a pleasure to work with you.

Student Life

They are intelligent, they are creative, they are active, they are academically ambitious, and they are the members of the after school clubs that are offered at B.H.S. They are students who are willing and interested in expanding their knowledge in certain areas. Some compete, and others simply gain something beyond what they are able to learn in the classroom.

These special students devote themselves, with time and effort, set goals, and strive to meet them. From improving math or physics skills to relating to foreign cultures or competing against other teens academically — B.H.S. offers students the chance to pursue different kinds of activities and to get the most of what they can out of such experiences.

New Arrivals

The Welcoming Committee is a new addition to the student government of Brookfield High School. The members of this committee are called upon when there is a new student arriving for their first day. The "native" Brookfield student orients the new student with the school itself and the rest of the student body. This group has been developed to ease the awkwardness of the "new kid in town." The new student not only has an easier time getting to his or her classes but also has an easier time making friends.

Welcoming Committee Members

from left to right: A. Oshman, S. Parker, R. Brace, M. Pigeaud, not pictured: S. McEntegart, J. Bisecker

The Policy Board is another new addition to the student government. These members provide a line of communication between the students and the Board of Education. If there is an argument by a student about a certain school policy, the students meet with the Policy Board and if the problem cannot be resolved, the Policy Board will meet with members of the Board of Education. This is a needed line of communication between the people who make the rules and the people who must follow them.

Kim McDonaugh and Melanie Darling work at the refreshment stand.

The AFS International/Intercultural Program is a non-governmental, nonprofit, international organization, dedicated to peace through the promotion of worldwide intercultural learning and living experiences for secondary school students, young adults, and families from all walks of life.

This year the Brookfield AFS Club was very successful due to the rapid increase in membership. The major fundraising activities of this year included working at the football games in the refreshment stand, and our annual December citrus sale. We also completed a service project in March at the Mediplex nursing home.

Every year we have a biannual exchange with the students from Woodson High School in Washington D.C. In November they spent a week in B.H.S. and in our homes. In April we visited them, and many lasting friendships have developed from this exchange. This as well as other AFS activities have been enriched learning experiences for everyone in the club.

Friends Don't Let Friends Drive Drunk!

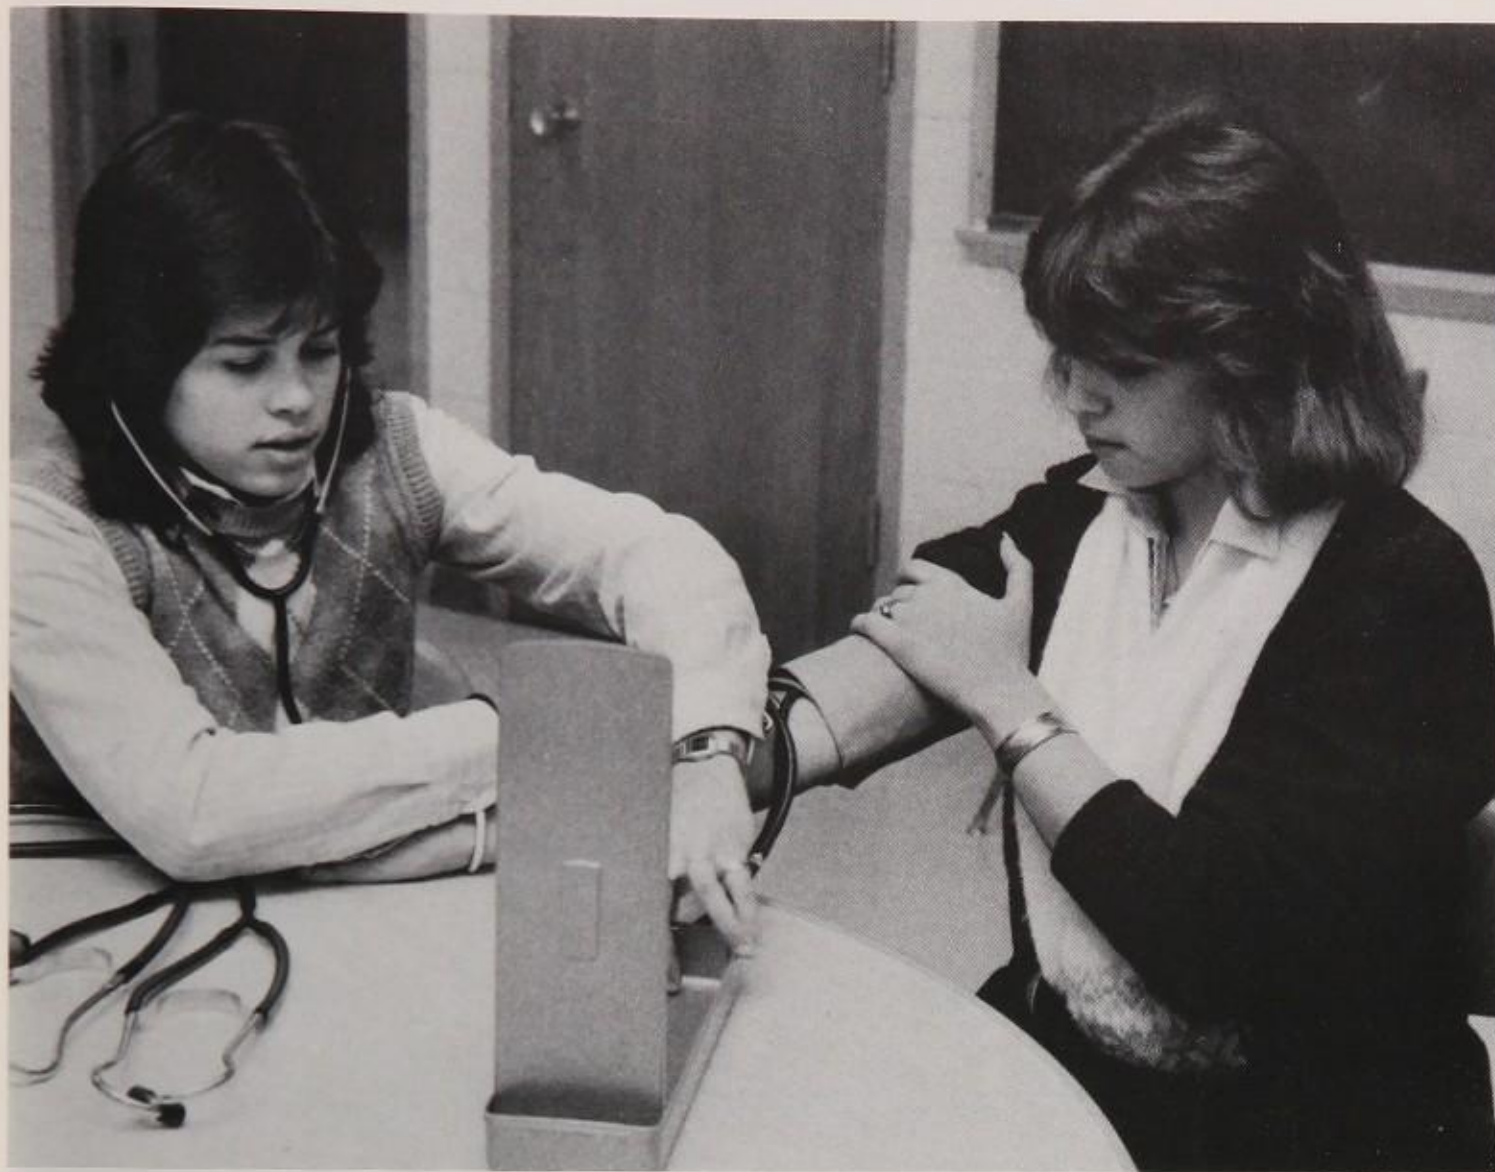

The Brookfield Safe Rides Organization has been active for three years. It offers kids a safe ride home on a Friday or Saturday night from 10:00 pm. to 3:00 am. A crew of three students and one adult supervisor are stationed at the Brookfield Congregational Church receiving the phone calls. They give rides to kids who have had too much to drink or just want a safe ride home. The calls are kept totally confidential and offer the teenager an alternative to getting behind the wheel while under the influence of alcohol.

A Helping Hand

The Nurse's Aid Program is designed so that the students, upon successful completion of the course, will be able to function in the role of a nurse aid-level employee in a health care facility.

Upon successful completion of 120 hours of classroom and nursing arts laboratory phase plus 60 hours of chemical experience at Filosa's Convalescent Home and The New Milford Hospital, the students receive a certificate of completion issued by the Brookfield High School and approved by the State of Connecticut Department of Education Division of Vocational and Adult Education.

The students enrolled in this program are: Gina Angelastro, Robin Ashley, Sandy Noto and Marie Profeta. Susan Saloom, R.N., is their advisor.

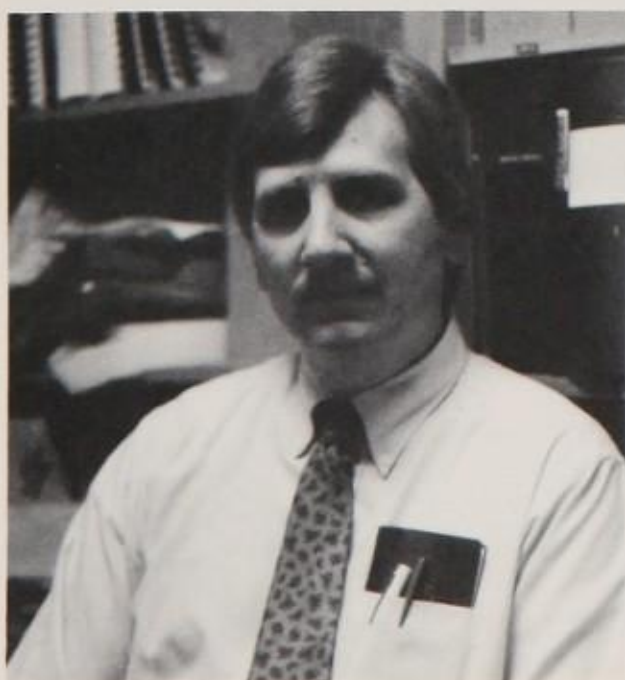

Student Council

The Student Council serves the high school in many ways. It is the Student government representing the voice of all the students. For example, the Policy Board of the Student Council has met with Board of Education members and school administrators to discuss students' suggestions and concerns.

The Student Council also presented to the Board of Education a proposal to have a student representative on the Board. In addition the Student Council fosters school spirit by organizing Homecoming, social activities such as dances and fundraisers. The canned food drive at Thanksgiving and the raffle for the Emple baby are examples of the Council's efforts to provide community service as well.

The students who are selected for membership in the National Honor Society have demonstrated outstanding achievement in the areas of scholarship, leadership, character, and service to school and community. A student must have a 3.5 grade point average, and meet each of the other criteria before final selection is made by the total staff of B.H.S.

The local chapter of the National Honor Society is a service organization founded upon the premise that one should use one's talent, skills, and knowledge for the betterment of others. The activities and services offered by the N.H.S. for 1984-1985 included:

- Tutoring students of B.H.S.
- Creating and coordinating a Holiday Bazaar for all B.H.S. clubs
- Participating in "Toys for Tots"
- Raising money to aid the starving Ethiopians
- Visiting the Senior Center of Brookfield for a panel discussion and a "Senior" prom.
- Selling daffodils for the American Cancer Society
- Coordinating a Blood Mobile at B.H.S.
- Inducting new members into the National Honor Society

The Future Business Leaders of America-PBL Creed

I believe free education is the right of every individual.

I believe the future depends upon mutual understanding and cooperation of business, industry, the home, and by the peoples of our own and other lands. I agree to do my utmost to bring about better understanding and cooperation on the part of all these groups.

I believe every individual should prepare for a useful occupation and should carry on that occupation in a manner that will bring the greatest good to the greatest number.

I believe every individual should be actively interested in better social, political, community and family life.

I believe every individual has the right to earn a living at a useful occupation and that this right should not be denied because of race, color, creed, sex or handicap.

I believe every individual should take responsibility for carrying out assigned tasks in a manner that will reflect credit to oneself, one's associates, school and community.

I believe I have the responsibility to work efficiently and to think clearly, and I promise myself to use these abilities to make the world a better place for everyone.

Several new members make their speeches.

Journalism offers students the chance to learn by doing. Right from the first day, students plunge head-first into trying to put out a good paper. For the ambitious and self-motivated student, the room takes on an exciting and productive air as the deadline gets closer. Journalism is not a regular, textbook class. An interested student is far too busy to ever be bored. People learn to work with each other and make their own decisions. Perhaps the best thing about the class is that no one leaves at the end of the semester without at least a little pride and self-satisfaction of having put out a good school paper that really says something.

SAIL

Here's a look at some of the SAIL students and what they enjoy doing: Ian, on the way to getting the morning newspaper likes to say hello to the nurses Mrs. Saloom and Mrs. Haselwood and he also says hello to Miss Smith and Mrs. Ronan. Ian is a Senior this year and he likes to go bowling and out to eat. His favorite sandwich is tuna fish. Peter has been helping other SAIL students find their way to different rooms. He enjoys music and bowling, and now he is writing his name and address. Linda is enjoying her year in the SAIL program, and she always has a lovely smile for everyone. When asked what she likes best about school, she says she is happy in school. She must like everything! An outstanding event for Keith was receiving his varsity letter for being the manager of the football team. Keith also has worked very hard in ceramics this year and is making a lamp. Finally, Kief says he enjoys cooking and watching shows on the VCR.

SAIL stands for Selecting Adaptive Individual Lifestyles. Moving along this year, SAIL students are further developing skills they must acquire in order to be independent and productive in postschool years.

They are getting training and experience within the classroom in home skills, academics, vocational skills, and recreational leisure-time activities. Work experiences within the school gives each an opportunity to assume responsibility and use job-related skills. Regular trips into the community provide opportunities to perform skills necessary for major life demands such as shopping and ordering lunch. In addition, they can enjoy recreational activities and take educational trips to points of interest, such as Mystic Seaport.

Gourmet cooking has become routine in the SAIL kitchen yet lunch in the cafeteria is enjoyed by all. Individual SAIL students have become part of the mainstream in ceramics and computer classes. All are comfortable anywhere in the building. Most importantly, they are becoming active participants in school and in the community.

A black and white photograph of a man and a woman in costumes. The woman on the left has shoulder-length wavy hair and is wearing a white, long-sleeved robe with a dark sash tied around her waist. She is looking off to the side with a serious expression. The man on the right is wearing a dark, hooded robe over a white shirt, a white cap with a small horn-like protrusion, and a mustache. He is holding a large, crumpled, light-colored object in his arms and looking towards the camera with a slight smirk. The background is a wall made of large, irregular stone blocks.

And At Play

There is a room in B.H.S. that allows a certain percentage of us to perform and forget our daily hassles. We escape to a musical kingdom (115) led by a giant of a personality where we all work in harmony. But don't misunderstand, we do not have fun all the time. There is constant "singing from the diaphragm" and "let's try it again."

All of the above occurs "at 8:30" in the morning. Not to mention the fact that we perform for two big concerts a year, graduation and up to more than fifteen smaller performances for the community.

Despite all of this and Mr. Hermonat's "jokes," we will always remember chorus and we will come back as alumni to join in singing in the grand finale, the "Hallelujah Chorus."

Seniors Get It Together!

For the first time in the class of 1985's history, we have won Spirit Week. It was a close race, but we finally did it! I think congratulations are in order, don't you? Come on — our football players even dressed up as CHEERLEADERS! The role reversal idea sure proved to be a humorous experience for all. The traditional hat and badge day as well as blue and gold day were also successful.

Seniors even wore pajamas (of course they clashed) to express their spirit. Also, the pep rally was especially exciting, because of this year's fund raising idea sponsored by the cheerleaders. Jars were put out to be filled with money by students. The winner would have to kiss a piglet. The teacher whose jar contained the most money would produce the "lucky" pucker. Football coach, Gary Cassells had that pleasure. However, I think the kids who wanted him to win had a better time as spectators to this memorable event! Finally, with a lot of time, effort, and enthusiasm, the Senior class united together throughout Spirit Week, and at the Homecoming Game ended it on a happy note by winning the float competition . . .

Thank you, Senior class, for your help.

Special Day For Juniors

The Junior year in high school is very memorable. One of the things a student never forgets is getting his class ring. The ring ceremony isn't elaborate, but it is a good way for the class to unite as a whole and receive such a special token together. The class ring is enjoyed throughout the Junior and Senior years, and cherished for years after. When older, the ring will be looked upon and will remind students of the great times they had in a very short, but significant part of their lives — the high school years. The class of '86 celebrated the occasion this year and for upcoming classes the tradition will continue to be appreciated and remembered as one of the many special days spent at B.H.S.

Faces Only Mothers Could Love

'Tis The Season To Be Jolly

The National Honor Society got together this year to sponsor the 1984 Holiday Bazaar. This event had two purposes: to celebrate the joyous time of Christmas and Hanukah and to raise money for the different clubs and groups within B.H.S. Many booths were set up selling festive items from decorative desserts to Christmas crafts. The showing of Christmas cartoons, the painting of faces, and the selling of old yearbook pictures were main attractions. And, of course, Santa was there adding to the spirit of the season. All in all, it was a good opportunity to mingle with friends, get into the spirit, and support our school at the same time.

Suspects Caught Up To No-Good

Most of Brookfield High School is usually up to "no-good." Trying to make someone set off the Library alarm by hiding a "sensitized" book in their notebook has always been a popular stunt. Developing a fool-proof cheating system, one cough means the answer is A, a sneeze means B, etc., tell me you've never tried that one. Have you ever noticed that there are also several con artists in our midst? "John, why did it take you twenty minutes to go to the bathroom?" "Well, the one across the hall was locked so I had to go all the way down to the 500 wing, but that one was locked too so I had to find a janitor and when I finally found a janitor . . ." By this time the teacher gives up and tells you to have a seat. This stretch-the-story trick is meant to frustrate the teacher to the point of finding it easier to just forget the whole thing. Although not appreciated by the faculty, this is a part of high school that seems to break up the monotony of seven forty-five minute periods, five days a week. Now what fun would school be if you didn't break the rules once in a while, after all, that is what they're for.

It's All in the Way You Look At It

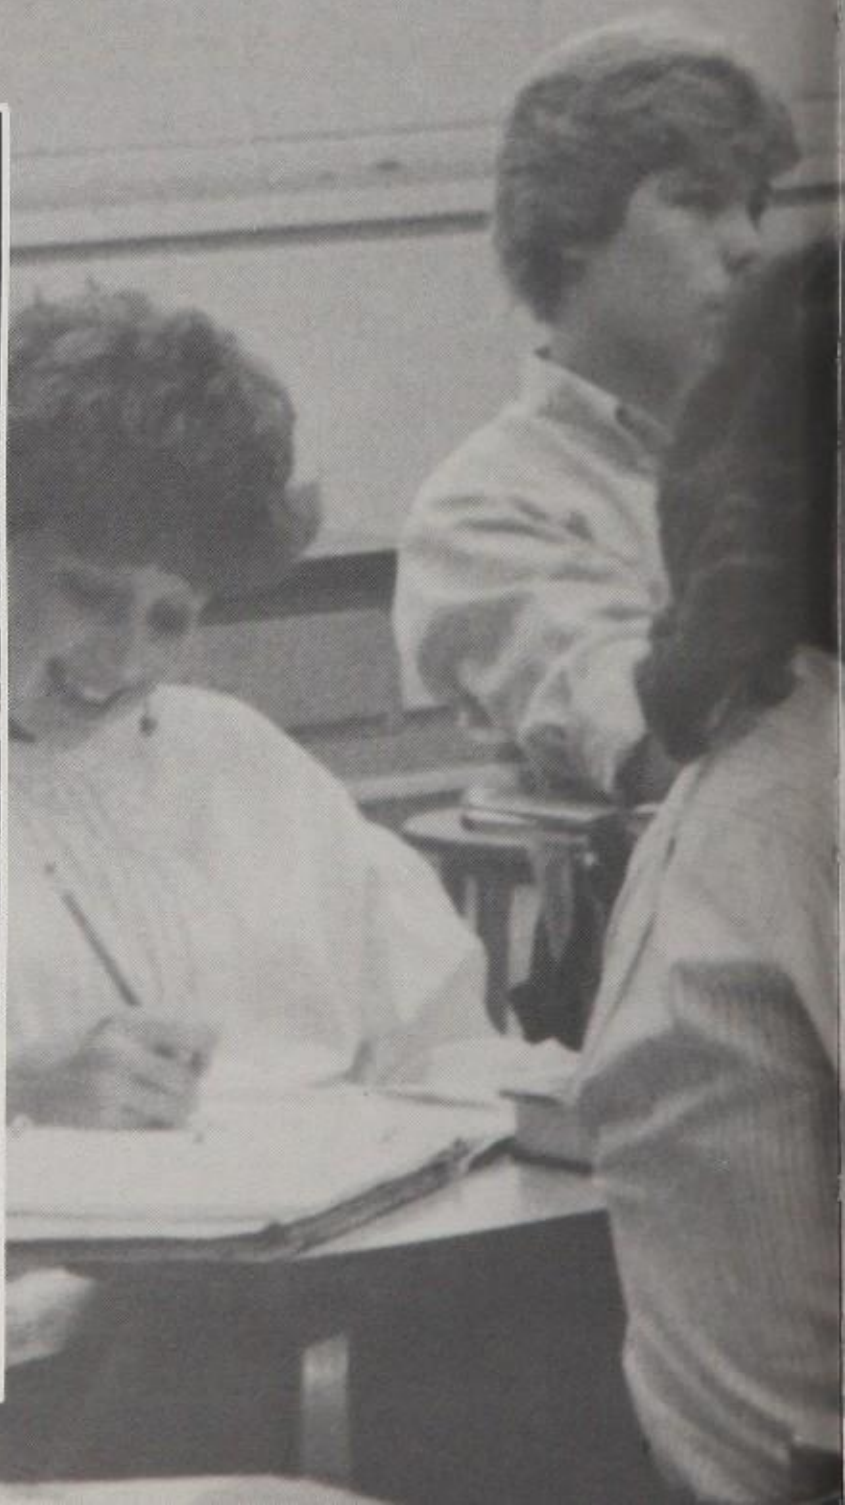

Chances are if you've ever thought of doing something bizarre or just different you've had one apprehension. The first couple of things that cross your mind are: will I look stupid and am I going to make a total fool of myself? These apprehensions keep many kids from making spectacles of themselves one way or another. Nevertheless, everyone usually does something out of the ordinary during four years at B.H.S. The odds of it happening in your freshman year are slim, but as you climb the ladder toward "upper classmanhood" the "I really couldn't give two sticks" attitude prevails. It's really all in the way you look at it. What one person would consider trivial, another would blush at. For example, stripping in the cafe, slipping on the shades in Shop class, even typing is a big deal for some. Taking a slightly different attitude toward comfort or simply pausing for a picture (despite who may be late for class) instead of covering your face and hollering obscenities at the photographer are just minor examples. So next time you ponder the question, "to do or not to do", go ahead, do it! Dare to be different.

Ah, New England!

Do any of these places look familiar to you? These are some of the traditional Brookfield Landmarks that make up the history of our town.

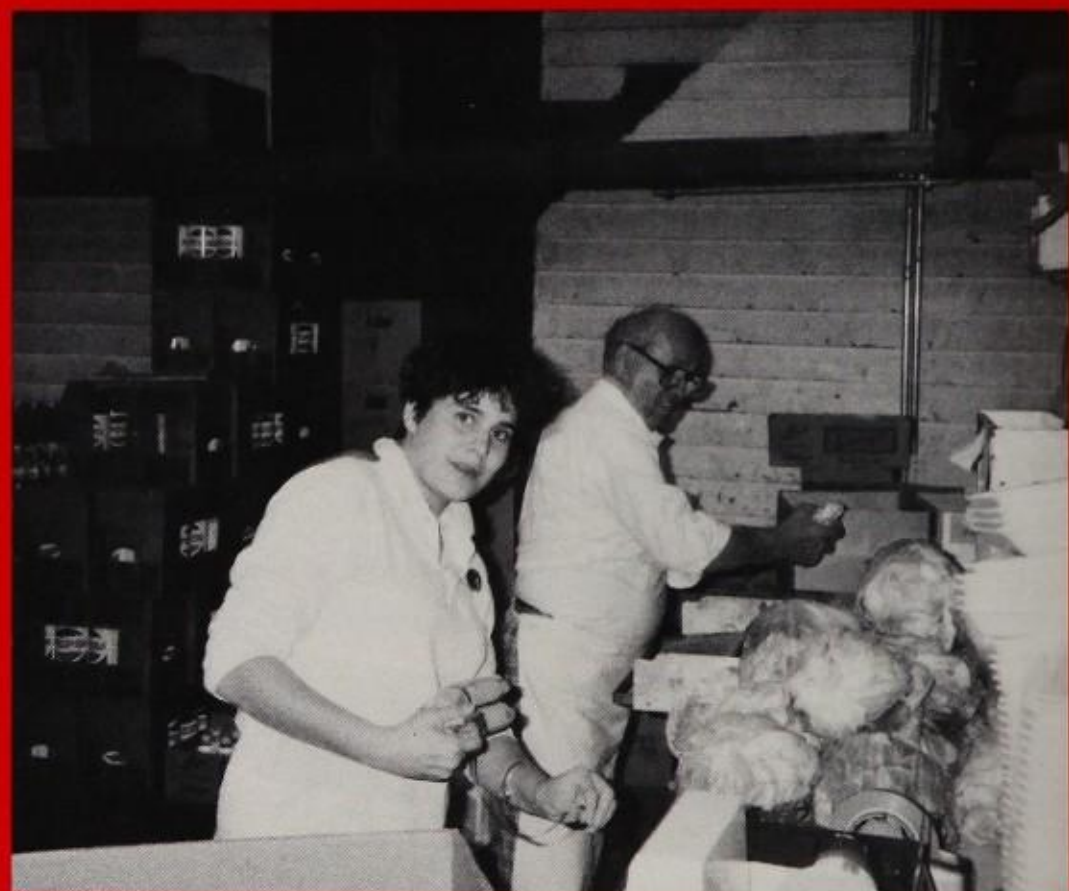

We pass these buildings, roads and trees every day without recognizing them as being important.

For those of you who plan on spending the rest of your lives in New York City or Chicago, we've added this page for you to look back upon and remember the good old days where the air was clean and the foliage beautiful!

Working for A Living

Hey, Where Did Everyone Go?

Where do students go after 2:05 on a weekday? Not all of them rush home to do their homework. In fact, many students dismiss the school day from their minds and enter a new world: The Work World.

Work is an important factor for the young adults. It makes them feel responsible and independent. Many students hold part time jobs in order to have extra spending money for the weekends. Have you ever noticed that when you go to a movie or out for pizza you are waited on by a fellow classmate?

We've added pictures of BHS students at work in this yearbook for a purpose: Since only one third of the weekday is spent at school or on assignments for school, there must be some place out there where everyone goes! So we've followed different students to different places such as Burger King and Waldbaums, and have decided to take you with us!

The 1984 season presented many adverse conditions to our players. Injuries to key personnel (skill positions), players moving positions and playing against bigger, stronger, faster people most of the year gave our players the opportunity to test many adverse theories. Those challenges were met head on, and although the season record was 1-9, the Bobcats displayed great courage and a never quite attitude in all of their ten games. When it would have been easier to just roll over and be beaten, the Bobcats played harder. When the tough times are over, our young men will be tough people as they combat the every day challenges and adversity that life will continue to present to them. Success will come to these players, especially the seniors, who are now better equipped and better prepared to continue the hard work necessary to achieve life's goals.

Several have received postseason award recognition. Selected to the W.C.C. All-Conference team as a wide receiver was senior Paul Sweeney. Making the All-Briggs Division team was senior Co. Captain Mark Greco (both as a guard and linebacker) and Paul Sweeney (punter and wide receiver). Receiving Honorable Mention honors were seniors; Co. Captain Jeff Brown (quarterback), Dave Grandmaison (flanker), and Jim Amory (defensive end). Juniors honored were Co. Captain, Chris Kallock (defensive end) and Brad Bopp (safety).

Volleyball... Lucky to be so Good!

This year's volleyball team is definitely one that will go down in history at Brookfield. Not only did they win the division title, but they plugged on the the state simi-finals which is further than any volleyball team has gone in over a decade. "Nobody ever thought we would get as far as we did," said Coach Johnis Macchiaverna. "Day one was not exactly a thriller; to walk into a gym with 30-40 crazy girls who have not seen a volleyball since last year. Panic, fear, and depression played a big part in that day." As the season progressed, however, the team pulled together and won the Brigg's Division title. They even went to the W.C.C. Championships vs. Central Catholic, losing the nerve-wracking match in the fifth game. This was just a minor setback, however, and they made it to state semi-finals after defeating two teams including #1 ranked Avon. It took the W.C.C. champs, Central Catholic, to put the girls out of the finals.

Ms. "Mac" feels that the team overcame a lot of problems this season, "and they did it with style and class." She also added, "We weren't just lucky, we were GOOD. These girls proved that they were winners on and off the court."

Coach Broxton

The history of Fútbol goes back to 200 B.C., where it was first developed in China. The rules for modern day Fútbol were introduced in England in the 1800's. In the mid 1900's, the United States adopted this sport, changing the name to Soccer meaning, association to the sport of Football.

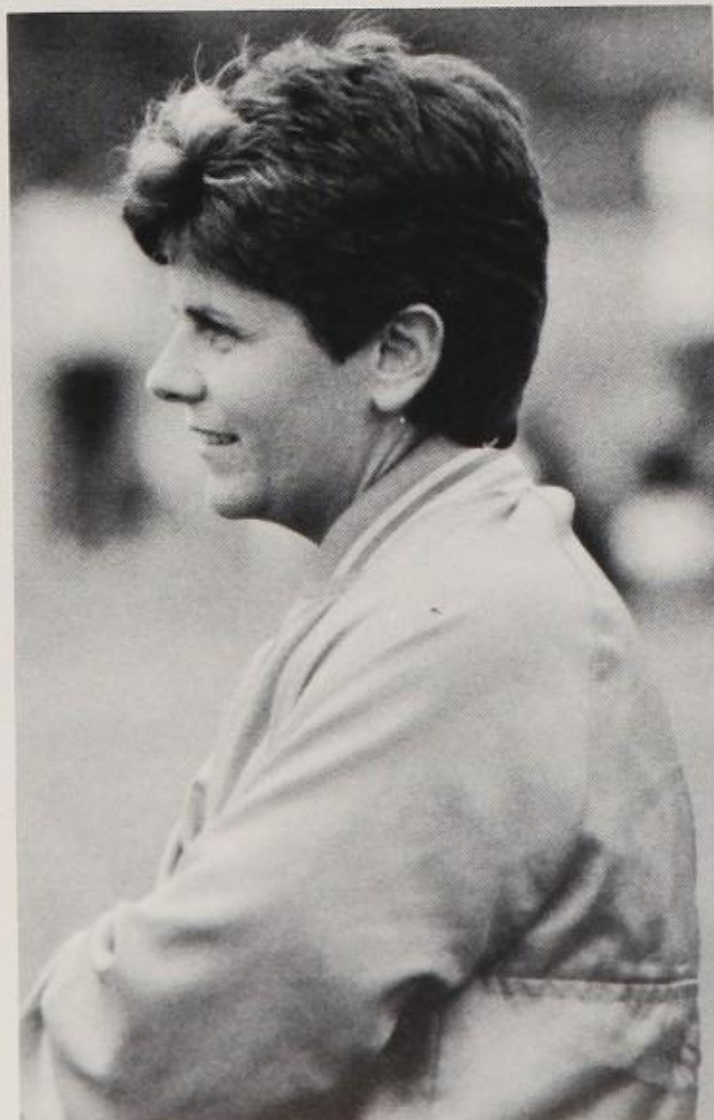

The Varsity Soccer team had an extraordinary season this year. They finished the season with a 12:1:1 record and they also achieved the stats of being the third best team in the state. The Soccer team thrived under the leadership of Coach Broxton, a born and bred Englishman. This Coach had three basic rules which led the Soccer team to victory: discipline, motivation, and patience. Aggressiveness and devotion to this sport, combined with the grueling practices and highly competitive games led the team to winning the Briggs Division Crown.

At the beginning of the season, the Bobcats set a goal of qualifying for the state tournament. They did a lot more than this. In addition to the fantastic feat of reaching the state semifinals, the girls had their best record in 5 years, finished 3rd in the W.C.C., sent 5 girls to all-W.C.C. squads and recorded Coach Adamski's 100th career win. Led by senior co-captains Sherri Drake and Joanne McAllister and junior captain Edith Gallagher (1st team all-state), the Bobcats started a tradition of success this season. Coach A. will miss the leadership and determination of this year's seniors, but knows the foundation for a winning program is solid. Thanks, girls, and Good Luck.

"Soccer Isn't Just For Boys"

"... it was the spring of hope, it was the season of despair." — Charles Dickens — Often, in this school, things go unnoticed. One of things overlooked this year was a birth. A birth of a new sport. That sport is girls' soccer. At the outset of the season, many questioned the existence of this year's team. Why is it here? Do we really need it? How much does it cost? Few people concluded that Brookfield athletics had another sport to build into a winning program. Saying that now, while looking at the team's record seems — laughable. At first, this year's group was, in fact, disorganized, unconditioned and out of place. The results of this showed on the field in the form of devastating losses. Yet these girls hung tough, and practiced hard, in search of that first win, which at the time, seemed unattainable. When that win came, there was a transformation, from a group of girls kicking a ball, to a team. Anyone present on that day would have noticed it. Someday, with continued support and encouragement, onlookers may point to that day, that win as the beginning of a fine sports tradition. One only has to look at the rise of the boys soccer team from the depths of the W.C.C. cellar to maintain support. We can only hope the same thing happens to this athletic program at Brookfield High School.

The girls gymnastics team was 1-10 this year, the reason being the same as with many winter sports, EXPERIENCE. It seems like a scape goat or something to blame losses on, but in reality, experience is a key to winning. Ask any coach, talk to any participant, they will all tell you experience and will power are the two keys to unlock the door to victory. This is the goal of next year's team, to be successful and most of all to win.

Gymnastics is a sport that receives little attention. Girls do it for competition, but don't really receive a crowd to cheer them on or recognition from outside sources. They go unheralded by the media, and are unknown and unrecognized as athletes by our student body. Although their record wasn't outstanding, at least the girls gave their all and took one step towards the door of success.

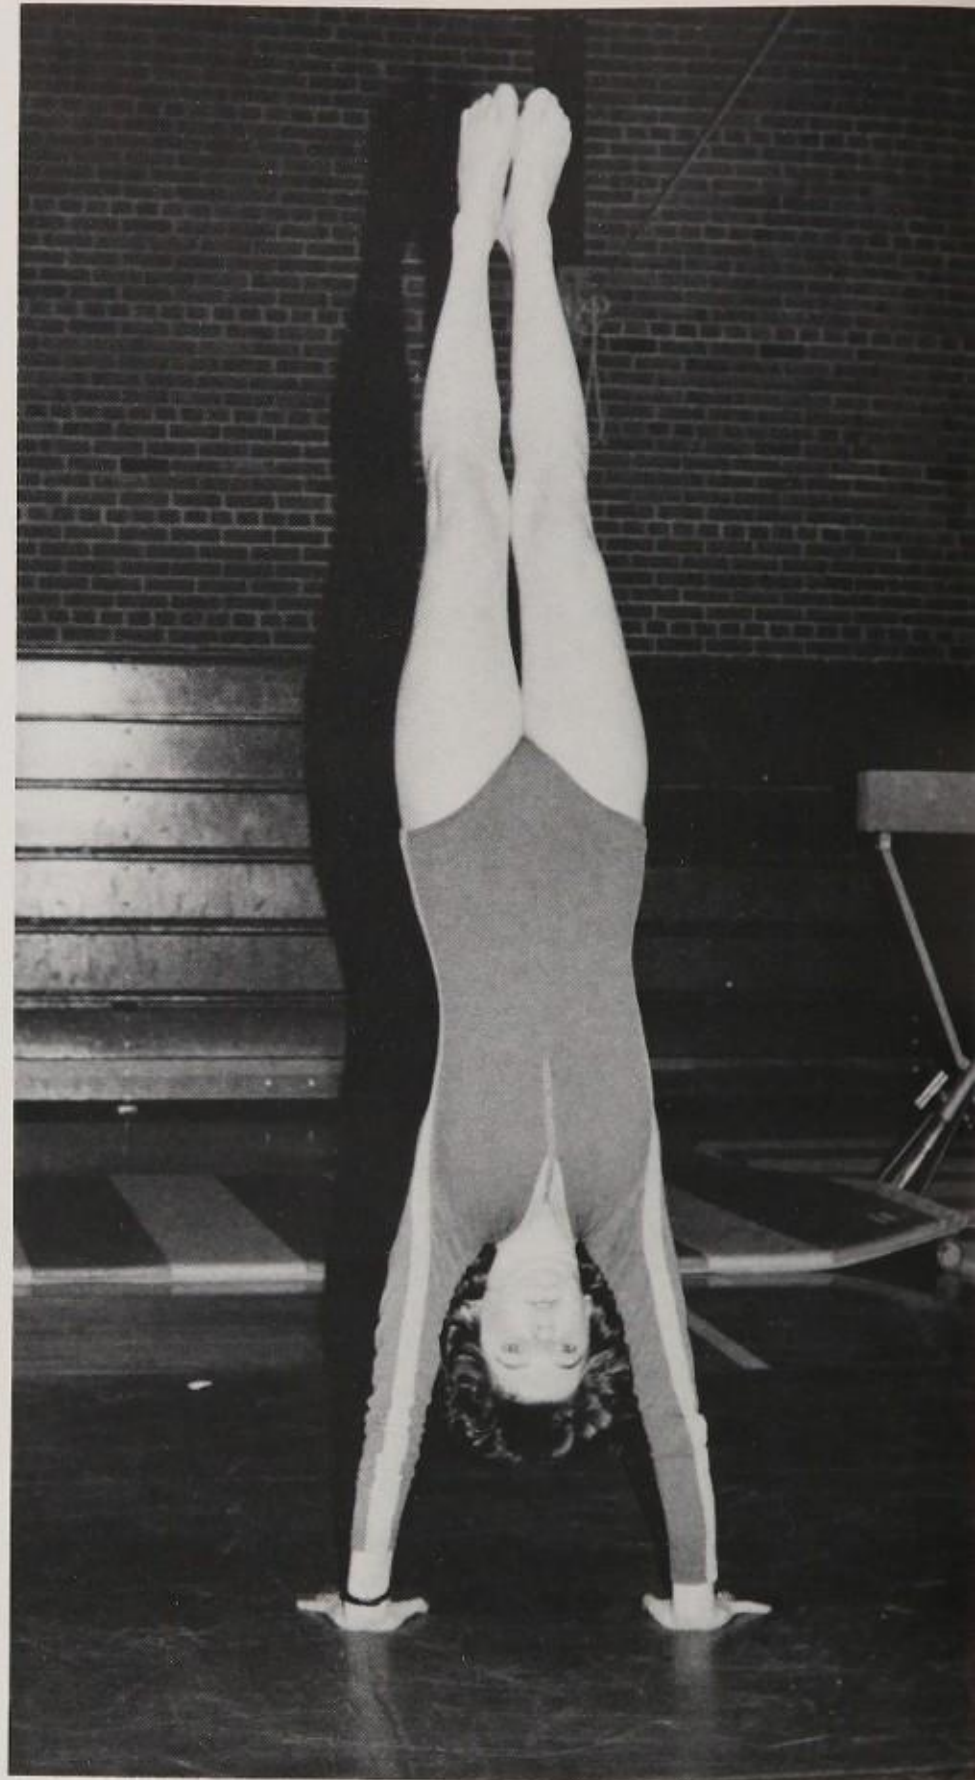

With their new coach, Chris Jensen, the girls are looking forward to a promising future. Numerous girls will return to the team next year. There is only one graduating senior, Shelia St. Amour. The girls are looking for a .500 + season or better and are hoping to gain the valuable experience necessary to be successful. With the amount of dedication and will power they exert now, there is no question they will be successful and hopefully receive the recognition they deserve as outstanding athletes.

Girl Hoopsters take to the court

J.V. Back row: K. Gallagher, J. Palmer, S. Wilbersheld, H. Hood, J. Terracino. Front row: J. Butterly, J. Leibert, N. Heidenreich, and K. Zaccara.

The final record of the girls' basketball team (7-11), does not accurately measure the hard work, dedication and commitment displayed by the lady Bobcats and their coach Mr. Joseph Russo. If there is one word that expresses the way the Girls' Basketball team played, it would be style. Although, they didn't win the WCC's or did not qualify for the state tournament, they did play their best, sporting a solid record and finishing the year with a big win.

The highlight of the season was capped by a dramatic game which matched the lady Bobcats against their rival, Immaculate. This game was important because the Mustang's coach (Joe Appello) was last years girls' basketball coach and the girls wanted to show him they could win and win big! The game was a clear-cut victory for the Mustangs, but the Bobcat Pride that was emitted was unmatched by their victorious rivals.

Although the team will be graduating three seniors, the teams future seems promising. With a big win over Newtown in overtime, the last game of the season surely demonstrated the future of girls basketball at Brookfield. This fact is supported by the 14-4 record the J.V. team had. These girls will be moving up next year and hopefully will continue to share in the exuberance and enthusiasm displayed by the lady Bobcats this year.

Dominance. That is a word usually heard when referring to Bobcat wrestling. Throughout the years, the Brookfield wrestlers have gained numerous WCC championships, won their own Christmas tournaments and have sent many wrestlers to the states to improve their overall record and introduce the rest of the state to Brookfield wrestling.

This year, things were different, the team was winless and most of all lacked experience. Most of the wrestlers were brought up from the J.V. squad and had little experience in Varsity matches. Experience is a key in any sport, because you need experience to grow and to improve, and that is what next years team is hoping to do.

Other teams will lose experience, while the Bobcats will gain. With a year of Varsity wrestling under their belt it will be easier for the freshmen and sophomores to combat their lack of experience with a solid knowledge of Varsity wrestling.

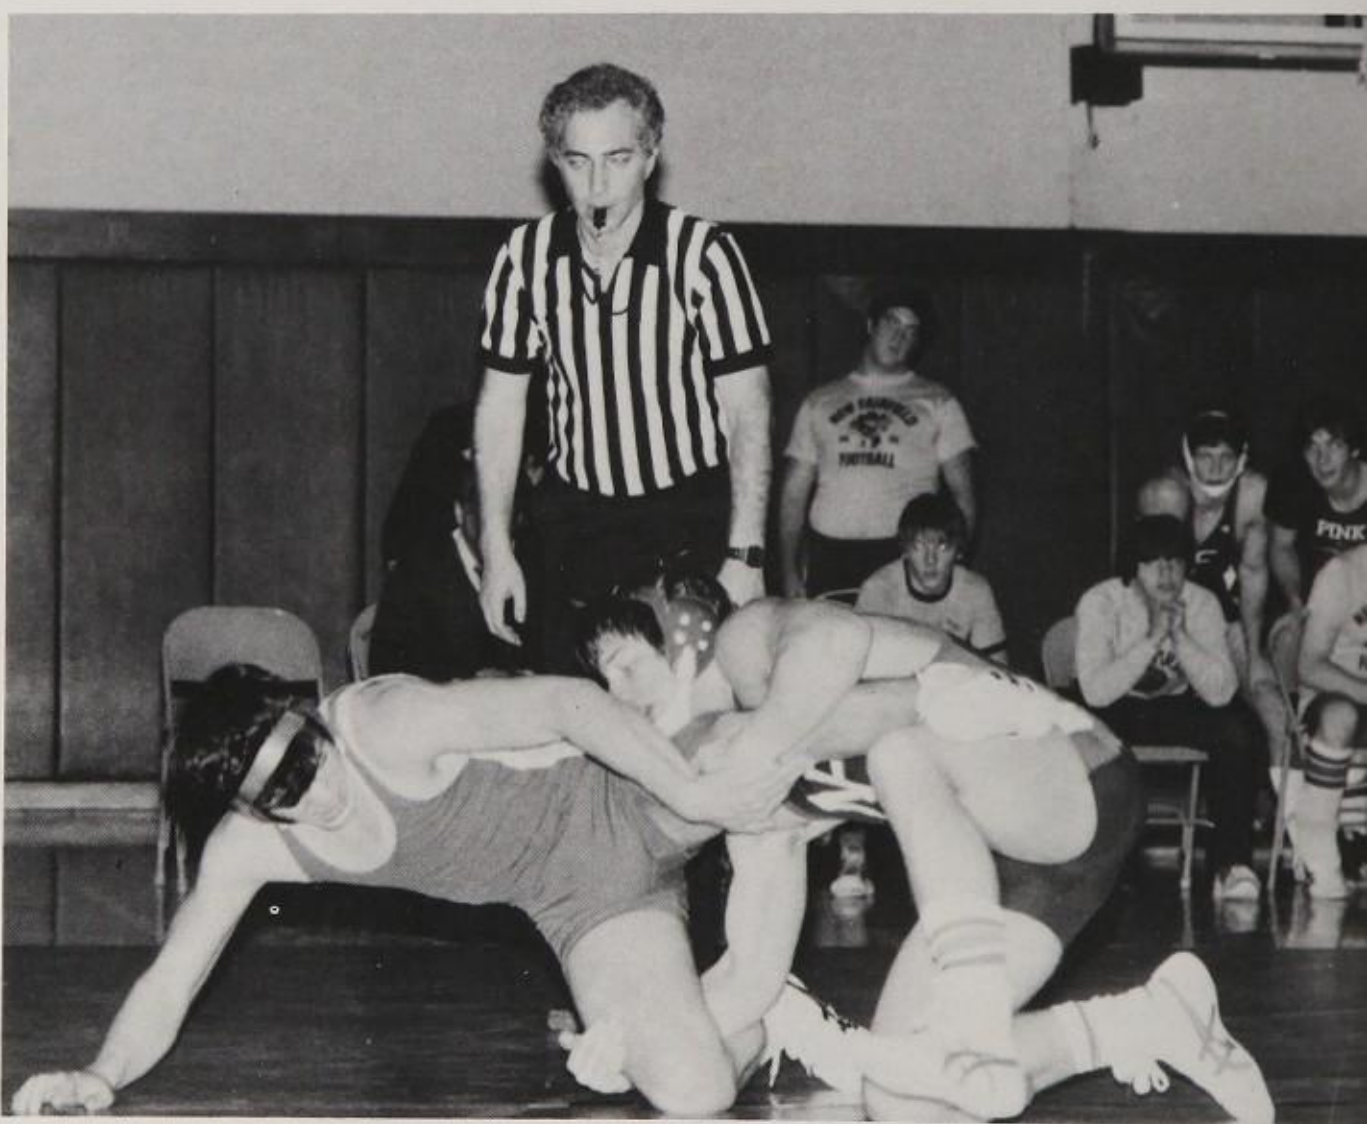

There was one bright spot this year that kept hold of the old Bobcat tradition of winning. That bright spot was junior, Eric Lombardo. He continued his dominance with a Class M. Championship.

Through hard work and discipline. Coach Larwin expects these young grapplers to mature into the dominant team they were a few years ago.

Mrs. Flora Keller
Senior Class Advisor

When we joke about our class not having spirit, or complain that the class of '85 is not unified, we sometimes forget to look at the positive side of the situation. We are individuals. We cannot be characterized as a group of spirited preppies or laid back partiers, or competitive jocks. The class of '85 simply does not have a general label. This individuality caused a few problems when it came time to build the homecoming float, to help in collecting dues, and to raise money through fundraisers. Yet, we all seemed to put our individuality aside and we were able to work together in order to win Spirit Week in our senior year. Events such as this and the junior prom, definitely balanced the more diversified moments in our class' history, and made my work as a class officer over the past four years very enjoyable. On behalf of the officers, I would like to thank everybody that has helped through the years, and on behalf of the whole senior class, I would like to thank our advisor, Mrs. Flora Keller for putting up with us and helping out in our Junior and Senior years.

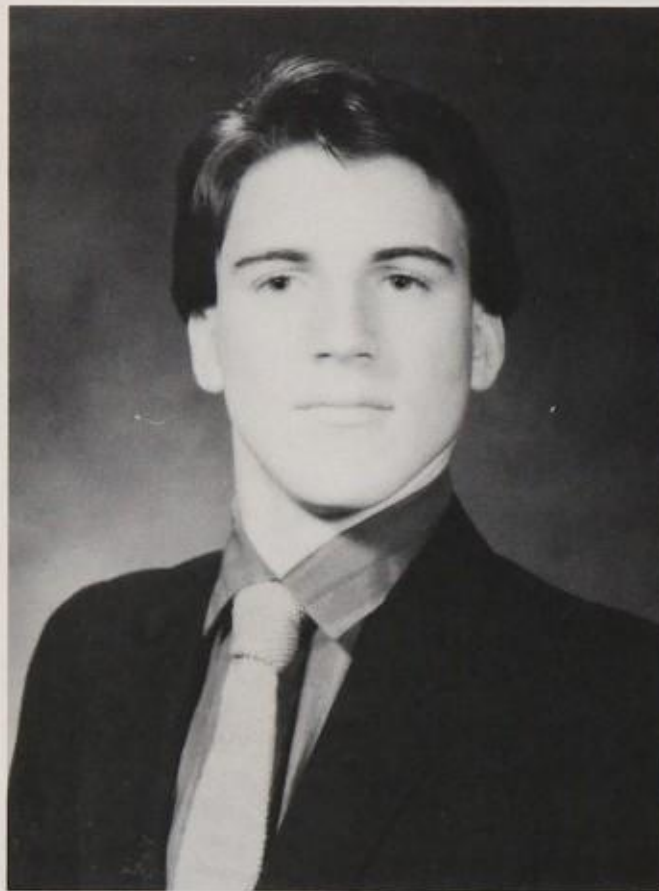

Best of luck to the Class of '85!

Senior Class Wills

I, Brandt Abercrombie, leave the hope that my sister doesn't get certain teachers. The school, a guidance department, to Duane a knife for his salami, to Brad a clump of hair for his weasel, to LG lots of women at FDU, to the class of '86 a real basketball program, to Coach McG a new delay game, to Jim H. a real waist, to the athletic department fair distribution of funds, to the gypsies new lives, to Jake a new left hand, to Rich H. another night by himself, to BA to spend Friday nights with PF, to Mark a years supply of VCR tapes, to Dean reading lessons, to the soccer team uniforms that fit, to Mr. Cavel thanks for giving me many chances, to Paula I give credit for my graduating and to keeping me alive, and to my parents thanks for their love and support.

I, Susan Allen, leave Mrs. Juliard a good yearbook staff, Dylan all the Tigers cards he can keep in his attic, Jennifer B. a good pair of scissors. Furry, endless good times and love stuffies always! Mr. Herm. a real dirtbag chorus! To Dave I leave another patient, to Brian my future and undivided love. Thanks mom for being there.

I, Daniel Alzamora, leave to DF a can of tennis balls. To Kelley Mike's famous running shorts. To Sean a new door and a new Hornet, To Mike M. some Schnapps from Cumberland Farms and some Black H. To Rudi Pierre. To Jen B. A gigantic can of cheese balls and some Kool-aid. To Miss Wolfe a new freshman class who doesn't show up. To Mr. Lalli a lollipop. To Sean a roman army.

I, Jackie Amorossi, leave Robin, another great 3rd period study, a garbage can full of candy wrappers and a deer skin for her bedroom wall. Krit, the fulfilled memories we will never forget with the guys we WILL forget, my shoulder to cry on and Tony. To both of you I leave smurfs, new bars of soaps & fog! To Kim, zillions of bean bag beans, step by step directions for your sunroof, a bigger trunk, John McEnroe and The Body! To my best friend Karen I leave a few Friday nights that will go down in history, one Saturday night that ALMOST went down in history, a tow truck, no more car accidents, The Great Escape, our sign that means a lot to everyone, and a can of muffler fluid. To Christopher I leave the wonderful memories we have shared, the memories we will create, my neverending support, my endless love and lots & lots of Hugs & Kisses. I Love You!

I, Jeff Anderson, leave Cyndie, my massive arms, a million dollar wardrobe, and thanks for everything you've done for me. To Dee, our lunch table, and a senior year filled with men. To Kevin P; one more year. To the '86 football team, my number (67), a I .j. to anyone who wants it, and a winning season. To the school, my brother and sister. To all my friends, a great life. To mom and dad, thanks for getting me here. To me, I leave four great years of my life, all my GOOD grades, and anything I want, hope for, or try to do.

I, Gina Angelastro, leave a great senior year to CMC, CM, a new ski nautique Dave, Liz to Paul, vice-versa. A new rank out book to Mike F. A pair of sneakers to Rudy the beach. To all, everyone at Brookfield High a great year, hold on to a ray of hope and a promise of future ... and follow your dreams. Love to all.

I, Christine Ashley, leave after 5 long years. To my sister Robin, a great senior year. Same to Kris and Pam. To Sharon and Elena, frogs and diaper rash. Buddy and Keith, fun times at R.B.G.S. George L; Scooby and my brother Steven have fun in your upcoming years. Thanks to all my friends for their support, especially Mom and Dad.

I, Kerry Asmussen, leave Balls a new cabinet; Mrs. Miles a new Dear John column; Gumby pole-vaulting lessons; RH driving lessons and a real car; DN a new Cubs shirt; JO a pack of breathmints and a case of C.C.; John, Brian and all the gang, a new bus driver; MN a mitt and a stress fracture; the entire world free ice cream. Tracy my love and a mouth without braces.

I, Jason Gavin Aurada, leave Eric (my brother) good luck and friends who don't live in the smoking lounge; Eric Lombardo a season next year; and Erik Lagarto a swift kick in the ... to Kurt S. a new Ninja suit and free Ninja lessons; Mrs. Miles another masterful writer like myself; Mr. Zappala an all girl class; to Doc a pair of "deep sneakers" and a class full of people who don't think and are doomed; and to George F. the Star of David

Good Luck to the Class of 1985

Laurie,
Well we made it through Math! Even through Mr Pom-Pom. How I don't know how we did it but we did. Only one more year to go. Don't you get all the fun times in Math class, Dawn
You and I were the only ones who knew anything. Only one year left and no Mr Pom Pom Thank-God!. Good luck next year and have a great summer. Keep in touch.

Love Amy

Hi, well good luck
this summer and
see you next year show
(the big senior) show it off. Nice having you for a friend!
Love always
Pam Young

Oh...
I don't even know where to begin. This has definitely been an interesting year. So many things to remember and so many things to forget.
We had our first "falling out", we got our licenses. (GET OFF THE ROAD, CRAZY KID!!!)
You had your first accident (PSWEAR TO GOD, MA, THAT PARKING METER JUST RAN RIGHT OUT IN FRONT OF ME!!!) We each had more babies (CABBAGE PATCH), and (now for the interesting part) all of our romances. How many has it been? And the Prom.
How could we forget the prom? (NEW CAN I BLEW BUBBLES, DAD PURCELL?!) Heads out the sunroof... breakfast time... FRENCH FRIES?!

Can you believe it's almost over? Just another year to go and will be long gone.
Christ, I still remember 8th grade w/ Mr. Foster.
(GEE, JEANNE, YOU SHOULD WEAR DRESSES MORE OFTEN!
YOU HAVE NICE LEGS!!!) EW! SCREUNGE!
And Miss Howe. God what a lady. She was really great.

We've been best friends for ~~sooooo~~ long.
And it's so hard to know what to write. I still have all, well most of the notes you've ever written to me. Let's see... Chip, Bobby, Mike, Bumble Bee, Amy, Cathy, Anne Marie, BFA,
etc. etc, etc.

I'M WRITING IT! Maybe next year will

Laurie,
I can't believe we made it through American History! Hopefully we won't have to take it for another year! Maybe we'll be in the same Modern World class
next year! Hope so!
Have a terrific summer, and

Barb

Laurie,
 It was good getting to meet you this year at the Deli. I think that you should give up on those Newports, but that's beside the point.
 You are a really nice person and
 I enjoy talking to you in school.
 Keep a smile on your face and good luck in school next year.
 I'm sure I'll see you over the summer.

 Hi! Wsup? This year in dancing was fun! Except toward the end when
 Janet got a little crazy!
 See ya next year!
 Luv your friend
 P.S. keep in touch!
